Neighborhoods Get Their Kicks

By Noland Hoshino

The Southwest Vancouver Neighborhood Kickball League ended its fourth season with great success. Six neighborhoods participated, playing a total of 30 games in the regular season (May – August), a championship game, and an all-star game.

Todd Bachmann of the Arnada Neighborhood started the Southwest Vancouver Neighborhood Kickball League as a way to get people out of the house, playing in neighborhood parks, and building community with friendly games of kickball. A simple idea with effective results. Four years later, the kickball league has grown, and achieved its goals.

Returning to the neighborhood parks were Carter Park "Kickers," Hough "Shazamrox," Arnada "Armada," Lincoln/Shumway "Misfits," Northwest "Fireballs," and a newly added team outside of the southwest neighborhood boundaries called "The Outsiders."
